New Race Creation Template

This template is merely a suggestion to help you better flesh out your new race or races. It does not need to be filled out in its entirety. Especially not initially or for minor or side races, but the more information you do know about your creatures, the more real they'll be in your world and to your readers. Also, this is not meant to be a wholly comprehensive list. You might well think of new information to add. By all means, go ahead!
